Popcorn Maker is a creative tool that makes authoring interactive media pages as easy as point and click.

Popcorn Maker brings the power of popcorn.js and its plugin system to a graphical user interface, with familiar timeline controls. Completely free and open source, Popcorn Maker offers a collection of useful templates, but since it’s built from standard HTML, you can customize it to your heart’s content.

Who’s it for?

- filmmakers
- journalists
- creative people of all stripes

Under active development, Popcorn Maker is alpha software. Give it a spin, and contact us if you have any suggestions! If you’d like to build upon Popcorn Maker, you can get started now by forking it on Github.
